There was absolutely no communication among the full board before you received the response. That was unilaterally done by Marcia. I logged my formal disapproval of that action

It's all on Marcia's head at this point. Since ADRE has sent out the notification with a 20 day deadline, Marcia must be handling it completely on her own with the attorney. I haven't been sent anything as a board member so she is deciding on her own with the lawyer. The same lawyer that told me I was wrong about the open meeting statute. And we know how that turned out.
